Commander Black:

Thank you for allowing me to view the documentary, For Love of Liberty.

As a member of the first and only "colored" parachute unit, The 555th Parachute Infantry Battalion, in a completely segregated army (1943-1947), I can easily understand and empathize with the images and message of the documentary.

This documented story of the patriotism of African Americans from the very beginnings and throughout the history of our great nation is a testament to the strength of our diversity. Frank Martin deserves accolades for his treatment of the historical material.

I would urge maximum distribution of For Love of Liberty, primarily to all of the youth of our great United States of America.

Again, thanks for sharing with me.

Very Respectfully:

Joseph L. Murchison
National President
